

BUTTERFLY LIFE TRANS ALIMONY

Society Matron Finds Herself in Court Accounting for Her Spendings.

ONE MAN IN THE BIG CROWD.

Edward Pidge Has No Idea Where His Wife is Now and He is Again In Eligible Class.

After Mrs. Austin Davis, formerly Mrs. Anna Dunlap, a young society matron, confessed yesterday in divorce matins that she had spent considerable alimony giving theater parties and dinner parties in downtown cafes, Judge Morse modified the decree and issued stringent orders in her case. He not only reduced the alimony to $12.50 a month but ordered her to make an accounting each month to the court.

When it was intimated by Atty. Will Day that she was carrying on a butterfly life at the expense of her former husband, it aroused her dignity. It was shown, however, that she entertained extensively and used money secured from property set aside by her former husband, William O. Dunlap, mining man, to be used for the support of his two sons. This property, Mrs. Austin has transferred to her present husband. To this Dunlap objects, and has transferred the property himself to R. M. Harmon as an innocent purchaser and suit has been filed in the district court to order title to it.

The property involved consists of a lot improved by a modern cottage which is valued at $3,000. The transfer was made by Mrs. Davis for $300 cash and $1,300 in certain payments on the promise that he would assume the $1,000 mortgage on the place. It was this $300 that got Mrs. Austin into court and part of which she admitted she spent to keep up her social engagements.

The question of title to the property will be heard in a separate trial in the district court in an effort to straighten out the tangle.

The matter was brought before the court on a motion to modify the divorce. Mrs. Davis was granted a divorce.

Mrs. Davis was granted a divorce from Dunlap several years ago on the charge of cruelty. She was granted the custody of her two sons and $25 a month alimony besides the house and lot which was to revert to her sons. She was married about two years ago to Mr. Davis. Mrs. Davis is a young and handsome woman. She was stylishly dressed when she appeared in court and was accompanied by her sons.

FIRST ROUND FOR GEISLER.

With a scratch on his nose, a discolored eye and a swollen lip, Louis Geisler, a contractor, appeared in court yesterday and looked a fit patient for his wife's private hospital which she is conducting in their residence. He was arraigned before Judge Morse to show why he should not pay temporary alimony to his wife, who seeks a divorce on the grounds of cruelty. After listening to the testimony the court decided that Mrs. Geisler was better able to take care of herself than Geisler was, both physically and financially. Although he was discharged on the order to show cause a restraining order was granted prohibiting him from disposing of his property valued at $8,000.

From all appearances, their domestic trouble started over a laundry bill amounting to 30 cents. For some years they have had differences but the real hostilities did not break out until last Saturday. When the laundry man delivered Geisler's shirts with the rest of the clothes he refused to pay the bill. So Mrs. Geisler hid the shirts and then Geisler took $20 in gold away from her. It was in the struggle that Geisler received his scratches and black eye.

They were married 19 years ago and have three children. For the last three years Mrs. Geisler has been conducting a private hospital at her home. She makes as much money as Geisler does in the construction business and now has a bank account of $400.

GO TO COURT TOGETHER.

Although Archibald E. Higham is supporting his wife, Mrs. Hattie D. Higham, and living in the same house with her and his family of eight children, he was ordered into court yesterday to show cause why he should not pay suit money in the case. Higham accompanied his wife to court, sat by her until the case was called and then left the courtroom with her. The divorce was decreed by Judge Morse when he heard the testimony.

FORGETS WEDDING DAY.

Mrs. Beatrice E. Nichols' matrimonial life was so uninteresting that she had forgotten the date of her marriage. After considerable flustering she said that it was 14 years ago. Her husband, George E. Nichols, deserted her four years ago and since that time she has seen nothing of him. There are no children as an issue of the marriage and she was granted a divorce.

HELPS IN ANOTHER CASE.

After her divorce was granted, Mrs. Nichols took the witness stand and corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Madge Larson, who was also given a divorce on the grounds of desertion. Mrs. Larson married John P. Larson on Jan. 9, 1905, at Pocatello, Idaho. She was deserted four years ago and likewise she knows nothing of her husband's whereabouts.

ONE HUSBAND RELIEVED.

Edward D. Pidge was the only husband who was granted a divorce yesterday. He alleged desertion on the part of his wife, M. Elizabeth Pidge. They were married Feb. 13, 1903, and two years ago she left him. There were no children as the result of the marriage and Pidge has no idea where his wife is now.

BIGHTS HURRY NOW AND THEN.

Mrs. Maggie Jamison's suit for divorce was taken under advisement by Judge Morse to look over the service.

ANY remedy that benefits digestion strengthens the nerves. The nerve centers require nutrition. If the digestion is impaired, the nerve centers become anemic, and indigestion is the result.

Peruna is not a nerve nor a stimulant. It benefits the nerves by benefiting digestion.

Peruna frees the stomach of catarrhal congestions and normal digestion is the result. In other words, Peruna goes to the bottom of the whole difficulty, when the disagreeable symptoms disappear.

Mrs. J. C. Jamison, 61 Marchant street, Watsonville, Cal., writes:

"I was troubled with my stomach for six years. I tried many kinds of medicine, also was treated by three doctors. They said that I had nervous dyspepsia. I was put on a liquid diet for three months.

In the case. According to her testimony they were married in Denver on Jan. 12, 1894. When she came to Salt Lake to visit her folks about a year after their marriage, Jamison disappeared. She went back to Denver but when she could not find him returned to Salt Lake.

Nine years later she met him on the street in Salt Lake. Then he disappeared again and she has not seen him since. If the service by publication is irregular she will have to file another complaint.

Mrs. Maud Ellis was granted a divorce from William Ellis on the grounds of desertion and was given the custody of her daughter, Henriette, 11 years old. They were married in Jamestown, New York on Aug. 22, 1895. Ellis deserted her three years ago. She came to Salt Lake two years later.

AN EXPERIENCED DIVORCEE. Mrs. Emma Arnold Matthews secured a second divorce yesterday. She is still receiving alimony from her first husband but her second husband got away owing her mother, Mrs. Mary Ellis, six months board and lodging. He has not been seen for the last year and Mrs. Matthews knows nothing of his whereabouts. They were married at Farmington on July 5, 1905. She alleged cruelty in her complaint charging her husband with beating her on several occasions. Matthews was a solicitor by occupation.

For the last four years Henry Shinn has not supported his wife, Mrs. Ruth Ellis Shinn. So she was granted a divorce. They were married Aug. 6, 1905. There are no children as an issue of the marriage.

JOHNSON NOT IN CONTEMPT.

On a show that he was unable, by reason of illness, to pay his divorced wife alimony, past due, John L. G. Johnson was declared not to be in contempt. The complaint in the case is Helga J. Johnson, who accuses her ex-husband of having transferred property to the amount of several thousand dollars to his relative.

BEST TREATMENT FOR COLDS.

"Best ordinary colds will yield to the simplest treatment," says the Chicago Tribune. "Moderative, expectant, hot foot baths, a free perspiration and avoidance of exposure to cold and wet after treatment." While this treatment is simple, it requires considerable trouble, and the one adopting it must remain in doors a day or two, or a fresh cold is almost sure to be contracted, and in many instances, pneumonia follows. It is not better to risk your family to an old reliable preparation like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, that is famous for its cure of colds and can always be depended upon for sale by all druggists.

FINANCING CADET TRIP.

Col. D. C. Jackling Will Head Subscription List With Three Thousand Dollars.

The movement for the purpose of sending the high school cadets to the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition at Seattle is meeting with more favor every day. Col. D. C. Jackling has agreed to head a subscription list to enable the boys to go, with $5,000. This was announced at a meeting of the Utah fair commissioners held last evening. Other contributions have also been offered, and the commissioners anticipate no difficulty in raising the $15,000 necessary to send the boys on the trip. The matter of securing the consent of the board of education to the step was left to Commissioner C. P. Overhead and Thomas Hall.

W. H. Rowe, director general of the Utah exhibit, will leave at once for Seattle to superintend the erection of the exhibit, after the building is completed. Mrs. C. H. Stevenson, in charge of the ladies' hospital department, will go to Seattle May 15. The cadets will be given the use of the armory at Seattle and of the stadium at the exposition grounds for a camp ground.

GORDON ACADEMY WINS.

A large audience was in attendance last night at the Congregational church to hear the debate between pupils of the Gordon academy and members of the Park City high school. The question discussed was "Resolved, That the United States should permanently retain the Philippines." The decision was unanimously in favor of the Gordon academy boys, Wallace Veeble, Jack Allen and Burton Clay, who had the affirmative. The Park City team was composed of Mrs. Wood, Ira Sherman and Rodger McDonald. The meeting was presided over by President Joseph T. Kingsbury of the U. of U. and the judges were M. L. MEAT ORDINANCE IS RECOMMENDED

Sanitary Committee of the Council Reports Measure for Passage.

SLAUGHTERERS ARE ON HAND

They Attempt to Excuse Themselves, But the Councilmen Severely Score Them Nevertheless.

Although threats were made by the slaughter men and butchers that they would raise the price of meat if the ordinance was passed compelling them to clean up their abattoirs, the sanitary committee of the council last night recommended the passage of the ordinance. Since the exposure of the filthy conditions of the slaughter houses last Wednesday, the consumption of meat has dropped off considerably, and the Retail Grocers & Butchers' association has become alarmed. The ordinance provides for government inspectors, which means that the slaughter houses will have to be kept in a sanitary condition and that diseased meats cannot be sold in Salt Lake City.

John H. White, representing the wholesale butchers, was the first to speak on the question. He said that the councilmen were not competent to judge the condition of the slaughter houses. He argued that government inspection would increase the price of meat and that it would deprive the city of certain kinds of meat.

The committee showed White that where it would be impossible to get government inspection that a city inspector would be appointed under the same rules carried out by the government. Councilman Raybould took up the condition of the slaughter houses in which they were found the other day and told of the desperate effort of several places to clean up before the investigating committee reached there. Councilman Black said that it was a criminal act to keep slaughter houses in such a condition and went so far as to say that he would make it warm for the man who sold him such meat if he ever found it out.

Mr. Hepworth of Hepworth & Sons spoke for a few minutes, and pleaded that he be given time to get his place in a first class condition. Black said that if the body did its duty by the people that they would close up his place and make him move out of the city.

On every hand the slaughter houses men were given severe lectures by the city fathers and nearly every one of them agreed to clean up their places and have them in good condition as soon as possible.

NEW FUNERAL PARLORS OF EBER W. HALL.

Three times in twelve years has Mr. Eber W. Hall been constrained to seek more commodious quarters; and now at last he has, at 34 South West Temple, funeral parlors as complete, as modern, and as consolatory in appearance as any to be found in the west. In fact, there are some innovations of unusual merit in the new mortuary.

The general appearance of the place is both pleasing and soothing, as it certainly should be. Furnishings and basins of goldfish enliven the entrance, while the general decorative color tone—green and white—cheers the eye. A cork covered floor lends that softness of tread consistent with the environment. The chapel room with a seating capacity of 400, a choir room, family room, and arch glass window representing in varied hues the birth of Christ is well designed to console the aching heart. A different beautiful casket-canopy of tinted silk gauze is used in each case.

The mortuary at the back is divided into several apartments—first, the general room in which all of the bodies are prepared, and, secondly, various smaller rooms, quiet, secluded, where the bereaved may call and, all alone, mourn over their dead without having to bear the ghastly sight of other unknown bodies. What a comfort such a provision can be, only those who have borne the more trying experience are able to appreciate.

Besides these things, the new place has a fire proof stone vault for the protection of all corpses, a thoroughly complete embalming room, and a dust proof shower room. In the last named are on display the most exquisite and costly caskets made—some even of solid copper with the most entrancing equipments that art can devise. Everything seems designed to fill the obsequies with tenderness, consolation and joyous never-ending hope. In every way Mr. Hall deserves praise for the dignity and soothing detail brought into the new home.

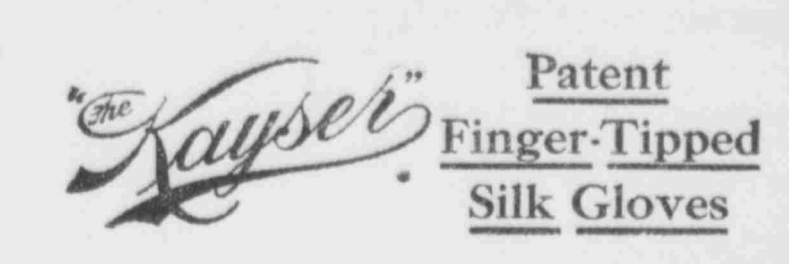

Some Women Don't Get Kayzers

Every woman, for 25 years, has wanted the Kayser silk gloves.

The patent tip—the finish, fabric and fit—are all that make silk gloves desirable.

But some women pay the Kayser price, and get an inferior make, because they don't look in the hem.

Patent Finger-Tipped Silk Gloves

Every genuine Kayser has the name in the hem. That means a fabric made in our factory—a pure silk fabric woven to wear.

It means a finish and fit due to fifty operations, and to 25 years of experience. It means the patent tip.

Don't be misled by inferior gloves, without the Kayser name in the hem.
